The moon and the stars are not the only objects shining in the sky. There are planets. The sun has nine planets around it. We live in the 3rd planet from the sun. Earth moves around the sun once a year. It's about 150 kilometres away from the sun. Mercury is the closest to the sun, the most distant planet is Pluto. Planets don't send out their heat or light like the sun. They shine in the sky only, because the sun shines on them. They reflect the sun's light just like the moon does. The nearest planets to the sun are too hot to live on, while those furthest away are too cold. Living things would not be able to survive on these planets.

The forests of the world are important to man's life. Trees are planted to take carbon dioxide and give out oxygen this is the magic source of oxygen we need. People cut the forests to use the woods in building houses, making furniture or making paper. Sometimes they cut the forests just to clear a space for building factories. So, if we continue to destroy the forests, we will change the earth into a dead planet. To avoid this damage, many countries are planting new forests now. But as trees grow very slowly, a long time will pass before they can replace the destroyed forests.

A) Answer the following questions:

1-Why do people plant trees?
.....

2-What will happen if we continue to destroy the forests?
.....
